

Front end of website nearly complete

The infrastructure for the PUMA software website is now complete. In the next day or two the final public site details text will be completed and we will begin work on the members area.

PUMA Program component Downloads, Support documentation and Tutorial Movies are being loaded into the members area.

As soon as this area has progressed a little further, I will start to send out logon and password details for each of the members currently covered by a Support agreement.

Thanks for your patience.

Steve McMahon

PUMA SOFTWARE